SITUATION IN PERSIAN CAPITAL

Peace of Nation Depended on Pre-mature Explosion of Gun in Streets.

Teheran, Persia, Dec. 20.—Nature looked more hopeful for a brief period this morning and the armed factions who had been fighting in the streets of the Persian capital since Sunday failed to disperse when suddenly a few minutes later a premature explosion of gun in streets.

The assembly has been telegrams from the principal cities of Persia promising peace.

A more optimistic outlook.

Persia, Dec. 20.—After a series of meetings and talks from day to day the French minister at Teheran gave more optimistic view of the present situation than he had done before. He said the existing deadlock between the Shah and the Persian parliament had been broken. Each faction thought it had been deceived. In the course of the negotiations the Shah and his forces representing each side recognized their former positions. The attitude of each faction is largely definite.

The assembly has been telegrams from the principal cities of Persia promising peace.

Great Britain or Russia to interfere in Persia is not likely, as France is the one power whose interests are most involved.

Anarchy is threatened.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 20.—The present crisis in Persia is followed by the deepest interest in St. Petersburg and it is the opinion of all that there is no chance of complete anarchy in that country. At the foreign office, which is in receipt of a telegram from Baron Hartwig, the Russian minister to Persia, no surprise would be felt if the struggle between the Shah and the parliament and the reactionaries should lead to the overthrow of the present monarch.

The Foreign Office said today that Russia was taking every measure to protect her own interests in Persia and that she would not interfere in the internal affairs of the Persians. She would extend diplomatic protection to Persia if there would be no cause for apprehension.

Partial Under Arms.

London, Dec. 20.—News came today at the annual meeting of the Imperial Bank of Persia, Sir Leo Hays Griffith, president, and Mr. J. M. McLean, the manager of the bank at Teheran. The message said:

FROM DAY TO DAY

GIVE ALL TO LOVE.

Give to the world;
Ober thy heart;
Friends, kindred, days,
Peace, good fame, Music—
Plan, credit and the Muse—
Nothing refuse.

'Tis a brave master;
Let it have scope;
For it attains;
Hope, help, help;
High and none high
Lives into noon,
With the sun;—
Untold intent?

It is a god;—
Rejoice, born pain,
And the outlets of the sky;

It was never for the mean;
It requires courage stout,
Some above doubt,
Value, worth,—
Such 'twill reward!

They shall trust;
What they were,
And even ascending;

Leave all for love;
Yet, hear me, yes,
One word that thy heart believed,
One more, that endear—
Keep them to-day.

Remember, for ever,
For thy beloved;

The gods smile on Emerson.

JAPAN EVIDENCING A FINE DIPLOMACY

The Various Admirals, Doctors, They Would be Delighted if the American Fleet can Battle Fleet Would Call on Them.

Tokio, Dec. 20.—The minister of the navy, Admiral Saiko, in an interview today said:

"The American fleet will be heartily welcomed should it visit here. I know Admiral Evans well. He is a delightful gentleman and a splendid soldier. We would be delighted if he will bring his ships on this side and give us a chance to show our appreciation."

Prince Higashikuni said: "America has always been a helpful friend of Japan and the Japanese people are very fond of President Roosevelt. We have never had any other thought than that it would be a great service to the world to despatch a fleet where it was desired, and it would be especially welcome at this time." Japan has always maintained that of war between America and Japan is unpredictable, and the attitude of the multitude of the people towards the fleet will ultimately prove the sincerity of our words.

Prince Higashikuni said: "I cannot imagine that the Japanese fleet has any aggressive design. Japan looks to the United States for the maintenance of peace and the patch of civilization and enlightenment."

M. G. Macrath, proprietor of the Hochmuth, the leading opposition paper, said: "I think the coming of the fleet will be the best guarantee to keep the naval forces in training and in the best of trim. It is undoubtedly a good omen which should prove significantly beneficial."

Will Welcome Fleet.

Tokio, Dec. 20.—If the United States fleet bound for the Pacific should visit Japan it would be heartily welcomed.

according to an interview granted by Admiral Count Togo, who said:

THE GALLAGHER-MULL DISPLAY
At this point some public are certain of being able to estimate and portray the equal of any to be had in any clime or country. The Gallagher-Mull Company, the well known butchers, have made a special provision for supplying the wants of those who seek the best.

Their store on Jasper Avenue is particularly attractive with its display of choice meats. There one may estimate what is claimed to be the heavy, fat, tender mutton for its age that ever came into Edinburgh. It is fed by the company themselves, and weighing the handsome figure 1,600 lbs., although it is only 10 months old. It dressed 950 lbs. and is one of the finest specimens anyone has seen.

The fact that the deer is sailing to the Pacific and to the ports of this country it is natural to extend the trip in that direction.

Morder at Sakakawea.

Sakakawea, Sat., Dec. 20.—There is considerable speculation as to the development of the Vogon case. Vogon was arrested from the ship about two weeks ago, and was found three weeks later by a party of hunters, who were sent to the scene of the examination received last night.

Vogon disclosed the fact that he was a member of the crew of the ship.

The coroner's jury re-assembled this afternoon and found a verdict of murder against person or persons unknown.

THE DETAILS OF THE TERRIBLE MINE HORROR

At Jacob's Creek, Pa., Dec. 20.—An explosion of gas in the Darr mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, at 200 feet below ground, killed 50 miners, and there is scarcely a ray of hope that a single one of them will be found alive.

Partially wrecked buildings in the vicinity of the mine and a condition of affairs were found so bad after an explosion of terrible force had occurred, that it is not believed that anyone could live in them. All the houses have been taken out to the mine creek, and all were terribly mangled.

This is the third mine disaster since the first of the month in the veins of bituminous coal underlying western Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

The two mines are Foster City and the two mines at Monongah, W. Va., are located on the same bed as the Darr mine, and the statistics of number of deaths due to mine gas to 560.

That year the disaster does not surpass in loss of life the West Virginia disaster is due to the devotion of a considerable number of miners.

In other cases the church festive, many of the four hundred or more men employed in the mine did not go to work.

Thus far no miners have escaped through this reason are members of the Greek Catholic church, and the miners of St. Nicholas Day.

As was the case at Monongah, the explosion followed a brief trial of the mine, which closed yesterday and Wednesday. It was just 11:30 o'clock when the tempest of locomotion had been brought on by the explosion, followed immediately by a loud report, and a tremendous shock, which was felt within a radius of several miles.

At the same time there came from the mouth of the mine in the darkness, like a sheet of flame, that floated across the Youghiogheny river. Intuitively everyone in the vicinity knew what had happened, and fled for safety in one place—the mouth of the mine.

Only a portion of those who started in the darkness were able to find their way, there being scant facilities for crossing the stream. The smoke and dust pouring from the mine seemed to indicate that all the miners in the workings, and from this source came reports that were persistent until late in the day.

Only One Man Escaped.

The ventilating fan had kept in operation throughout the afternoon, when the power plant having withstood the force of the explosion, and up to this time the rescuers found no one in the mouth. So far as known, only one man who went to work this morning escaped. Joseph Mapleton, a pauper, emerged from one of the Pittsburgh Coal Company's mines. He had left the part of the mines where the men were working and was on his way to the engine room when he heard an awful rumbling. I started toward the entrance but the mud in front of me was so bad and for a little time I did not know anything. Then I got to the side entrance and work.

The Rescue Party.

William Kelyingston, superintendent of the mine, was in it when the explosion occurred. When the officials have arrived they are organizing rescue parties, with reliefs at short intervals.

While the miners are living, all work is being carried on the premises that some may have found pleasant. The work of the workers will be explored at the earliest possible moment.

About 1,200 feet from the mouth of the mine a heavy fall of roof was experienced. It is believed that most of all the men were buried under the debris, but it will be hard to remove the debris to open a passage to those who are buried.

Drake was sent to the scene, and returned at night. From 1845 to 1854 as far as she remembered he had been to Baker street bazaar and took lunch to him there regularly.

She said that he had been born near Oxford, but she had forgotten the name of the place. She was present with Mr. Drake in 1868. In 1880 the will Mrs. Drake left her $2,000, and she had received 45 weeks from the deceased during the last year, and he also provided her with a nurse. She heard a rumor about a man named Herbert, but she had been told there was no truth in it, as she saw Mr. Drake die. All the members of the Drake family were at the funeral.

Mr. Bailey further testified she and Dr. Shaw laid out the body and the attendant Herbert Drake, was present.

hour place the number of men caught by the explosion at the Barr mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, at 200 feet below ground, was 50, and there is hope that some of the men are still living. It is expected that the unburied men will be reached by midnight.

FAMOUS DRUCE TRIAL.
Die and Laid Out Body.

London, Dec. 21.—The home office, with the consent of the attorney general, has issued a writ of habeas corpus for the Druse family vault in Highgate cemetery soon after Christmas.

When the vault was opened Catherine Ball, who testified last Monday that she held C. T. Druse's hand as she said she entered the service of Mrs. T. C. Druse in 1845, when Druse was 21 years old, and he had married her in the morning and returned at night. From 1845 to 1854

DAWSON TO HERSCHEL.

An expedition of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police will be dispatched from Dawson City to search for Dawson and Herschel Island in the Arctic ocean, at the mouth of the Mackenzie river, to ascertain whether the latter is still there.

Mr. George W. Wood, Commissioner of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, says the Vancouver Province.

Preparations are being made at the Dawson barracks for the departure of the expedition in good time, details of which have been communicated to the government, and the expedition then usually has to keep the men in constant training in order that it does not linger until the spring thaws begin to ruin the ice.

The personnel of the expedition has not been fixed. Two members of the police force will be in charge of the party, and one of them will be in command.

Three or four other men probably will go to assist in the search and may be joined later by Mr. Fred, the redoubtable masher, who was a member of the police and has the rank of sergeant.

If the personnel is not yet chosen, and return last year. If he goes this time it will be to trail guide.

For the benefit of our readers, one by making the record can to Macpherson and return. He got back much earlier than expected, and took a rest by the way.

The course was through an unbroken chain of mountains, the passes after leaving the Guggenheim power camp, fifty miles north of Dawson. The trail ran along the creeks, but got fresh game along the route, and pulled through none the worse, and all feeling like fighting machines at the finish.
